An Appeal to the 161 Parties at COP 9 of the Rotterdam Convention<sup>1</sup>

‘No more delays, no more vetoes’

April 20, 2019

Dear Delegates,

We the organisations listed below, representing those most exposed to and suffering from deadly exposures to asbestos fibre:

- deplore vested interests blocking the listing of chrysotile asbestos on the Rotterdam Convention at the last six Conferences of the Parties (COPs);
- demand that recommendations of the Convention’s own Chemical Review Committee be respected and supported on the basis of the clear scientific and medical evidence presented;
- call on all Parties to COP9 to support reform of Article 22 of the Rotterdam Convention at this COP in order to allow a 75% majority vote of the Parties to include a chemical on Annex III should consensus fail;
- call on all Parties to support listing of chrysotile asbestos on Annex III of the Convention at COP9, the 7th time it has been recommended.

<sup>1</sup> The Rotterdam Convention (RC) is a United Nations treaty designed to protect human health and progress environmental justice by imposing controls on the international trade in dangerous substances; this is achieved through the implementation of a right to prior informed consent (PIC) protocol under which exporting countries must advise importing countries of the toxic nature of designated substances – those listed on Annex III of the RC – so that importers might make informed decisions about whether or not they can use those substances without poisoning populations or damaging the environment. Because a consensus is required for any decision to be taken by the Convention, the actions of just a few Parties can frustrate the desires of the many. The ninth Conference of the Parties to the Rotterdam Convention (COP9) will take place from April 29 to May 10, 2019 in Geneva, Switzerland.

Asbestos vested interests, led by the International Chrysotile Association, have signalled their intention to block reform of the Convention and the listing of chrysotile asbestos via refusal of consensus by a small number of Parties who profit from its trade and who abuse the consensus system so as to veto any progress.

It is unconscionable that the financial interests of these few Parties can block the desires of the many to protect vulnerable populations from toxic exposures. The signatories of this letter are unanimous in their belief that to salvage the credibility of the Rotterdam Convention, chrysotile asbestos must be included on Annex III and the Convention's decision-making system must be reformed. It is time for action.
